A Message from Dave

Will the '21 Season Be Back to Normal? Maybe...

This time last year, the sky was falling, all or most of your car related events were no more. Well, a year later, while we are not out of the woods, at least there is some promise of a normal season. Not sure when things will loosen up in Delaware and Pennsylvania, but at least in Maryland, the Governor has lifted several restrictions and I think our outdoor events will be fine. Good news is the Lost in the 50's Cruise is on now, and I'll bet in another month or so many will follow.

I'm getting several new event listings, and most people are starting to feel comfortable with outdoor events. We all did our part to social distance from each other last year while still enjoying our cars & trucks. Maybe that phrase is soon eliminated from our vocabulary.

My hope is by summer, everything will return to normal and not become the new normal. Remember, I took the time to make sure we had up to date information on our site all of last year. I'll do the same, and our events will be updated weekly again. We are your best source for up to date shows and cruises. Make www.carcruiseguide.com your favorite place to find out what's going on. You can't rely on Facebook postings, or some sites that only update a couple times a year. We care enough to try to get it right the first time.

If you or your club put on events, remember my mission is to help you to promote your show or cruise. All at no cost to you, except for a couple minutes to send your free listing to: dave@carcruiseguide.com. I see posts all the time on Facebook that were never sent in to me. As a reminder, I won't post an event that is not sent directly to me, or if I don't have a flyer for. My readers expect that the information in these pages and on our site is correct. Want a successful show? Then just take the time to inform my readers.

OK, time for me to jump off my soap box and end with this: Let's all work together to make this a great show & cruise season. Let's work together for the future of our hobby. Let's all stay safe & healthy while doing it.

Happy Cruising, Dave

Brady & Lincoln celebrated their 10th birthday recently. They have been friends since age 2. Lincoln's dad Jeremy Cornwell, from Pep Boys Speed Shop, arranged for a Car Show to celebrate. Almost 100 cars, trucks & fire equipment came out for a drive by car show. These two young men love all types of automobiles, and are just the thing we like to encourage to support the future of our hobby.

Schedule subject to change

Foundation Update

by Doug Wood

The Cruise Guide is a Sponsor of the Foundation

It's been fairly difficult to come up with a subject to write about here lately. There hasn't been much going on to chat about. To be truthful I have changed direction three times since I began figuring out what I'm going to do with this column. Indecisive me... LOL. But here goes!

Just the other day I was chatting with a young man. He works for one of the local hot rod shops and does a very fine job. It turns out though, that he is a little conflicted with his desires for his career. You see, like many young people his interests lie with import cars... And more specifically JDM (Japanese design and manufacture). It seems that he is getting some pressure from others around him to switch from the import genre over to American customs and hot rods. The problem is that this pressure, however slight, is causing him concern. My point here is that we older folks that wish to encourage young people to get involved in our hobby, may be doing a disservice by exerting pressure. The hard truth is that JDM cars are usually less expensive for folks to purchase and maintain than our muscle cars, customs and hot rods. They very well may be the only way that young folks can get involved with the automotive hobby at all. As experienced hot rodders... We know all too well how expensive it can be to purchase and maintain an old car! Most young folks don't have very deep pockets to experience our older cars personally. Our hope should be that they get interested in doing the mechanics, electronics, paint and bodywork etc. on their affordable hobby car and as they get more successful in life, they may find the funds to buy what we consider to be a more desirable car. The truth is that maybe they know something we don't... Japanese cars and other imports value have been climbing sharply over the last couple of years. Sure it's not what we consider to be a hot rod, but it is what young folks consider to be a hot rod. Be tolerant of the younger generations and nurture their interest so that we don't lose them all together.

On the topic of our scholarship... We will be announcing the recipient soon. You'll be able to read about it in the next issue of the Car Show and Cruise Guide.

Just a little bit of news for you all... Our spring car show will have already happened by the time you read this, but please join us for our third Saturday cruises up at the Harford Vineyard and Winery. We are making plans for our fall car show and will announce its location and date in the near future. We have contracted with Columbus Gardens for a bull and oyster roast on November 6 from 1 to 5. Tickets will be a available shortly and you should keep an eye on this magazine for further details. Lastly, Ron's Rods is working on a date for his spring metal meet. Keep an eye on our Facebook page as well as this magazine's Facebook page for further updates.

I look forward to seeing you all out and about this year as it appears to be a more kinder and gentler cruising and car show season!

See you on the return road... Doug

PS- If you read this column before April 10th.. come on out to our Spring car show- Note the new location-

The Cruise Guide Annual All-Club Invitational Breakfast

photos by Bill Ross

The Cruise Guide Annual All-Club Invitational Breakfast

was held on February 20, 2021 at the Bel Air Moose Family Center. Along with Craig Bober and Jerry Wagner from Buick Owners of Md. were eighty-five club representatives from around Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania. After a hardy breakfast of scrambled eggs, bacon, sausage, potatoes, and chipped beef and gravy, Dave Bielecki, Car Show and Cruise Guide publisher, introduced Bill Bradley. Bill addressed some of the legal issues facing car enthusiast and hobbyist. Exhaust decibel sound, hot rod and historic tag issues, and possible Maryland inspection and emissions standards are all topics in discussion by our Representatives.

Doug Wood, President of the Custom and Classic Cars Educational Foundation, enlightened those gathered on the status of the Foundation. The Foundation will continue to sponsor young, ambitious talent in the car restoration business with a scholarship to McPherson College. The Annual Bull and Oyster Roast that help support this scholarship will be held on Nov. 6, provided the politicians allow it. Doug also shared some information concerning various shows and meets, the Harford Winery Cruise Nights are on the 3rd Saturdays. Their show will be April 10th at Dove Valley winery this year. The Foundation website is www.savethehobby.org. Check it out.

Also, worth mentioning is Ron Yeager's attendance. Ron is the proprietor of Ron's Rods, located in Fork, Maryland. Ron specializes in auto restoration and metal work. Ron on certain days invites those interested in metal work to attend his shop to learn about the skills of metallurgy. This and a boatload of information can be had by checking out the Cruise Guide website, www.carcruiseguide.com

The World's First Car

The first stationary gasoline engine developed by Carl Benz was a one-cylinder two-stroke unit which ran for the first time on New Year's Eve 1879. Benz had so much commercial success with this engine that he was able to devote more time to his dream of creating a lightweight car powered by a gasoline engine, in which the chassis and engine formed a single unit. The major features of the two-seater vehicle, which was completed in 1885, were the compact high-speed single-cylinder four-stroke engine installed horizontally at the rear, the tubular steel frame, the differential and three wire-spoked wheels. The engine output was 0.75 hp (0.55 kW). Details included an automatic intake slide, a controlled exhaust valve, high-voltage electrical vibrator ignition with spark plug, and water/thermo siphon evaporation cooling.

On January 29, 1886, Carl Benz applied for a patent for his "vehicle powered by a gas engine." The patent – number 37435 – may be regarded as the birth certificate of the automobile. In July 1886, the newspapers reported on the first public outing of the three-wheeled Benz Patent Motor Car, Model no. 1.

Using an improved version and without her husband's knowledge, Benz's wife Bertha and their two sons Eugen (15) and Richard (14) embarked on the first long-distance journey in automotive history on an August day in 1888.

The route included a few detours and took them from Mannheim to Pforzheim, her place of birth. With this journey of 180 kilometers including the return trip Bertha Benz demonstrated the practicality of the motor vehicle to the entire world. Without her daring – and that of her sons – and the decisive stimuli that resulted from it, the subsequent growth of Benz & Cie. in Mannheim to become the world's largest automobile plant of its day.

Tom Childers Dodge Charger Super UTE

Tom & Doll Childers Super Bee UTE started out as a 2007 Charger, and was transformed into what would become a modern Chrysler brand El Camino or Ranchero. Way down under in Australia, UTE's were extremely popular, but production has recently ceased from GM. The only way to have one these days is to build your own. That's exactly what Tom & Doll did. Being a Chevy guy, Tom owns a 2011 Chevy Caprice Police Cruiser he bought new that was never in service. Loving the ride and power of his PPV, he looked into getting a GM Holden brand Statesman G8 Ute, but found out its near impossible to import to the states. So he found out about the Rhode Island Company making these kits.

Starting with a 2007 Super Bee SRT-8, they bought a Smyth Performance kit to transform their everyday ride into a UTE. The finished product looks like it came directly from Chrysler. Once you carefully make the first cut on your perfectly fine Charger, there is no turning back. Everything past the front seats is removed except the chassis and drive-line. About 50-70 hours later, their ride was transformed into a very unique vehicle that steals all the attention at local shows. Tom hired Scott of Bagshaw's Hot Rod Fabrication to do most of the heavy lifting. The shop is located in Nascar country in North Carolina. After taking care of rust on the roof due to the weather in Florida where the car originated, Scott took the Sawzall to the Charger, then started putting all the well-engineered parts together. The car is stronger and lighter than before.

The kit from Smyth includes almost everything you need for the transformation. So many people have built Charger, VW Jetta & Beetles, Audi, Subaru, and Jeep UTEs that there are groups of owners with help and suggestions to make the job an easy one. Kits start around $3000 and if you are handy and do your own work, you can have one of the most attention catching cars at your show for less than five grand, (plus the cost of the donor vehicle). Some can be picked up for about a grand. I suggest you start out with the very best donor car you can afford, as I did when I built the Bed Bug a few years ago.

The car was built to take on the Hot Rod Power Tour in 2020, which of course is delayed. I first laid eyes on it and met the couple at Carlisle for the National Chrysler Show. Tom & Doll have become friends and I just cannot get their beautiful UTE off my mind. It makes my Bed Bug look so tame! Maybe one day I'll take the leap and build my own Charger UTE.

Craig Conaway's '72 Ford Pinto

After restoring a black '63 1/2 Ford Galaxie, I set my sights on an early model Pinto to build with a V8. But whenever I would come across a likely candidate, it was overpriced, overruined, or "sold yesterday".

Owning a '72 Pinto in the early '70's while serving in the Air Force, I wanted to build one with, as Tim Taylor would say, "more power". As fate would have it, while sitting at the inlet during the 2018 Endless Summer Cruise in Ocean City, Maryland, a Pinto was spied by my buddy coming off the boardwalk parade with a "for sale" sign. Once he parked in the inlet, we talked a bit, and on Friday evening I trailered it home since I was there with my Galaxie.

He had bought it from a man in New York who had built it with his son, including the current paint scheme. Taking it to New Jersey, he replaced the old, tired 302 with a 302 H.O. from a '93 Mustang. He added a mild street cam, Edelbrock RPM aluminum terminating at a Ford '9" rear with 3.73 gears. It had Ansen Sprints like my old '72 had. Not a daily driver, but I didn't buy it for its gas mileage. But it does get plenty of "smiles-per-gallon".

The Pinto received a lot of bad press regarding their "exploding" gas tanks, but with 3,173,492 Pintos sold, less than 30 caught fire resulting from rear end collisions, and was singled out by Nader & company. Other vehicles were just as susceptible to "explode", and did, but Pintos were the witch-hunt target.

Many folks have fond memories of owning a Pinto, be it a sedan, Runabout, or a wagon. At car shows they tell me, "My Pinto didn't look like that!" This year marks the Ford Pinto's 50th Anniversary.

Ford's drag racing big hitters like Bill Lawton received these fiberglass wonders, with an additional 16-inches added ahead of the windshield, with a 15-inch engine setback for the 427 SOHC Cammer/C-6 automatic combo. There were six crafted in all from out of the Holman-Moody shop in Long Beach, California. Because there was no Funny Car class, NHRA slotted them into the C/Fuel class where they completely dominated. These would be the last factory-sponsored drag racing entries until the Cobra Jet Mustangs debuted in 1968.
