Car Show
& Cruise Guide

Hot August Nights

It won't be long before fall will be here. Right now we are dealing with those hot August nights, and last month it seemed way too many thunderstorms. After enduring some rough weather, it makes it worthwhile when the mild fall weather gets here. Fall brings a crazy amount of shows; of which the only problem with that is figuring which one to attend some days.

Below this column is a promo for the ONLINE Cruise Guide. On the months we don't print, we still have a new magazine to read online for you. Just visit our site and click on the magazine cover. You will find tons of show photos. We get so many contributed to us that I just can't afford the cost to print any more pages in the print publication. So from now on, just check out our website on a regular basis...who knows your ride might be there. Also, the show listings are updated almost every week so events that were sent in too late for the print issue will be on our site. Just click on the event tab.

We are looking for more features to offer online, so please reach out to me with your ideas. In July we had some pages of our reader's rides, and some of some people that attend the shows. I would like to feature some old photos of cars you wish you never sold. Above the column are my old GMC Jimmy and Dart Wagon. You can't keep them all I guess.

Happy Cruising – Dave

Foundation Update

by Doug Wood

The Cruise Guide is a Sponsor of the Foundation

It's been pretty busy around here at the foundation. Our spring car show went very well and our cruise nights up at the winery have been kind of running on cruise control.

As I write this we are in the middle of putting together The Real Man's Yard Sale. It has been a lot of work and it looks like it's going to pay off! With three weeks to go... We are more than halfway sold in terms of spaces... And we continue to field five or more phone calls per day. Hoping that we are completely sold out when you all arrive to make your purchases from the vendors. In the next issue I'll report back just how well we did... Of course you may have already been there by the time you read this, so you may know better than me!

I need to take this time to thank some folks that have recently volunteered to help us out here at the CCCEF. In the past I have mentioned Anita and Drew Hill as well as Michael Price. We have additionally been graced with the help of Tom Lombardi, Sue Howell, Myron Sadowyj, Ryan Sprenkle and Donna Willett. Since we are in the midst of planning for the yard sale, the presence of these extra folks will be utterly necessary to pull off the yard sale. Many thanks to them for what they have already done and what they will do.

Once again, let me remind you all that we need applicants for our scholarship program. We have had three in the last year or so, but would love to have a larger pool of applicants to peruse before granting our award. The scholarships don't necessarily have to go to teenagers. Young adults in their early 20s are certainly qualified to make the application!

We are digging in to the hot season... Stay cool, keep cruising and as always I'll see you on the return road!

Harry Cooper VFW

The 10th Annual Car & Truck Show at the Harry Cooper VFW Post 160 was held on 6/12/22 in Glen Burnie. It was a dreary day, but a wonderful show. As Charles & Dawn Ferrell have said, this show would be "10 years and out" for them. On this special year, this show raised a record breaking $8300 to benefit this VFW Post. The show will continue with other members of the VFW at the helm. On behalf of all the participants over the years, we thank the Ferrell family for their hard work in making this show a huge success.

Hey Car Show

Judges - We want to put a list of interested people together that can travel up to 50 miles to help judge shows. It would be nice to trade up areas to judge the entries so the vehicles are not ones you are familiar with. Should have a true knowledge of cars, and can leave their personal preferences at home. Email me if interested or if you have ideas to help make this work

Gordon Geesey's 1970 Plymouth Roadrunner Superbird

By now most automotive enthusiasts are well versed on the story behind these iconic "wing cars", but for the uninitiated, just sit back and hear some real history. The late 60's was an incredible period for the performance car movement in Detroit. Everything from Trans Am road course racing to drag racing was red hot, and eager automotive companies came out with specialty vehicles.

No where was this competition more cut throat and evident than on the high-banks of America's NASCAR tracks. Late in '68, the Dodge Division realized that their brick-like Chargers were top-end limited, even with their hugely successful Hemi engine. The engineers went to work trying to maximize the aerodynamics, and the results were the famed Dodge Charger Daytona. The outrageous machines featured a huge rear spoiler that raised up higher than the roof as well as an 18-inch nose cone shaped like a bullet. NASCAR rules at the time specified that at least 500 models had to be produced in order for the vehicle to be considered a true production car. Dodge built 503.

Meanwhile, Plymouth was still reeling from losing long-time driver Richard Petty to Ford. Negotiations with "The King" failed to bring him back to the marque until Richard saw his first Daytona! "Build me that, and I'll come back" he was heard to say.

So Plymouth set out to build their own version of the Charger Daytona. It was based on the popular and successful B-Body chassis, which at the time bore the name Roadrunner. As this was to be the ultimate Roadrunner, Plymouth christened their new creation the "Superbird", and adorned it with images of the cartoon bird holding a racing helmet and their now famous "beep-beep" horn. And for a little free advertising, they emblazoned each car with huge "Plymouth" decals on the quarter panels.

NASCAR informed Plymouth that they would have to produce at least one vehicle for every 2 licensed dealerships in the country. Plymouth ended up building between 1920-1935 total vehicles

The cars were a complete sales flop. They languished in dealer's showrooms and were widely mocked for their outrageous appearance. Because the car lacked a traditional front bumper, the Maryland MVA actually refused to title them in 1970!

But most cars were sold, and were largely treated like any other new car in 1970; they were used as daily transportation, raced, modified, beat on, wrecked, and left out to suffer the ravages of the environments. But a few were treated like a member of the family and pampered by the owners since Day 1. This car is one of those lucky few.

I purchased this example from the son of the original dealer that sold it brand new in 1970. Having only traveled 28,000 miles since new it has had 3 prior owners, and has been meticulously maintained and preserved since being built on November 30, 1969. It spent more than a decade in storage and has probably never seen rain, snow, ice, or salted roads. It features 90% original paint, original vinyl roof, original glass, and original interior. The spare tire has never touched the ground. The only things ever replaced on the car are safety and wear items like the battery, belts, hoses, and tires. The car still has its assembly line-installed water pump, alternator, starter, carburetor, and radiator. The factory inspection marks are still present and visible.

I have the original build sheet & fender tag for the car. The Superbird option included power disc brakes, power steering, max cooling, and the "Performance Axle Package" with Hemi suspension. My car is a true "stripper" (as most Superbirds were) featuring just an AM radio, high-impact color, and bright exhaust tips.

Because of the highly-original condition of the car, I do not drive it very often – perhaps less than 200 miles a year. It has been featured inside the "Survivor's Tent" at the Chrysler Nationals in Carlisle, PA, and has been examined and photographed by several notable Mopar restoration experts to be used as a "reference" vehicle for other Superbird restorations. It was at the 2021 East Coast Indoor Nationals, and recently it won the Sponsor's Choice award at the Bwoody Performance show in Abingdon, MD.

It is an incredible piece of automotive history, and I'm fortunate to be the caretaker for such a special vehicle. I love taking it to shows and letting people see exactly how these cars were assembled and the story behind their existence. The car is always a conversation starter! If you see me at an event, please come up and say hello!
