Welcome to our August / September Issue

It is hard for me to believe we are getting close to the fall show season. Heat and rain kept most of us away from several shows this summer. Most were rescheduled, but a few just didn't happen. That's a real shame as many of you just do not understand what it takes to put on a show these days. Besides for the actual show day, volunteers put in hours planning and getting ready for these events. I'm sure the next time you attend one; it would go a long way if you just mention a little gratitude to the folks in charge.

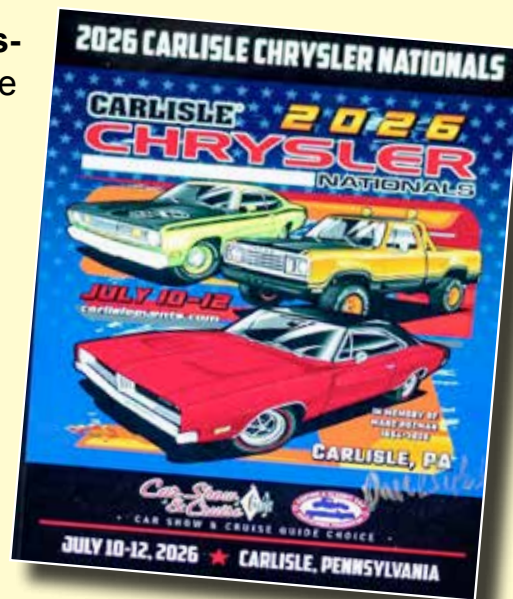

And speaking of volunteers and folks in charge, I have a little news for you about this publication and the foundation that has taken it over from me. For 11 years I held the position of Executive Director and Doug Wood has always been our President and face of the Custom & Classic Car Educational Foundation. Last month we made some changes at the top that should help our future growth and inspire some new ideas. Doug is our new Executive Director and I am now the Vice President of Media. The big news is we are welcoming one of our members, Lisa Karrenbauer, who is now President of the Foundation. Many locals know her from her 'Pink Panther' van. Recently retired, she is poised to run a tight ship and keep me and Doug in line! Let's all welcome Madam President Lisa into the leadership role in saving this Hobby for the next generation. Learn more about her on page 12.

Happy Cruising, Dave

SavetheHobby.org

I was asked recently to be a celebrity Judge at Chrysler Carlisle to pick a youth ride for a special award. Since it seems I'm the Mopar guy in this group it was an honor to pick 23 year old Shanna Webb's Duster.

We are doing our part to reach the next generation; you'll find many pages in each issue now honoring their part in our hobby.

Connects Students with Industry Leaders

Welcoming generations of automotive enthusiasts to the Carlisle PA Fairgrounds has been commonplace since 1974, when Bill Miller and Chip Miller (no relation) hosted their first-ever automotive event. Over the years, millions of guests have passed through the gates at Carlisle. For nearly a decade, however, a growing emphasis has been placed on inspiring the next generation of enthusiasts through a special partnership between Carlisle Events, Ford Motor Company, and local educational programs.

That commitment was once again on display during the 2026 Carlisle Ford Nationals, as students from the Carlisle Area School District's Auto Tech and Engineering programs were invited to a special VIP gathering of event partners on Friday, June 5.

The experience may have been one of the students' final activities of the 2025-2026 academic year, but it was certainly one they won't soon forget. Nearly two dozen students attended, accompanied by faculty members including Andrea Groller, Director of Carlisle's Center for Careers and Technology, and Automotive Instructor Ed Rios. As educators, they expected their students to learn throughout the day. What they may not have anticipated was how much they would learn themselves.

From the moment they arrived, the group was immersed in the automotive world. Carlisle Events co-owner Lance Miller and Carlisle Ford Nationals Event Manager Ken Appell guided the students through a series of unique interactions with some of the industry's most accomplished professionals.

For a group of students considering their next steps, the experience served as a reminder that exciting opportunities can exist closer to home than they might realize. In fact, for these aspiring automotive professionals, the road to a future in the hobby was just 2.3 miles east of their campus in Carlisle.

To learn more about Carlisle Events Youth Initiatives, visit CarlisleEvents.com/Youth or contact Ken Appell at 717-243-7855, ext. 116.

Should I Buy a Classic Car as an Investment?

If you've been around the collector car hobby long enough, you have heard the canned response that most of us give to the above question and that is Buy What You Like and not what you think you can make money on. If you don't buy a car for the enjoyment, then what's the purpose?

Buying a car as an investment changes the dynamic of ownership. Want to head to the shore for the weekend in the investment car? Better not as something could happen on the way. If buying as an investment, do you really know and understand the market and its changing tides? What if a major component fails? Is that factored into the potential selling price, or does it put you under water? Older cars usually require upkeep and maintenance and if doing it for the love of the car, doesn't nearly factor in as much as it does when you're in the "profit" mindset. It is not free to own a classic even if you pay cash. You still need to transport, store, insure, and keep it running and maybe do a few minor upgrades to the car. If profit is your only motivator, it will certainly have an effect on how you approach all the aforementioned items and when you have to factor all the costs in, including interest on your money, did you really even make a profit?

Truth is...buy the new golf club, eat the cake, have another glass of wine, enjoy your classic car...the point is to enjoy our short time in this world and don't make your hobby a burden! Most people find that enjoying a particular car for an indeterminate amount of time and then selling it for close to what you paid is all the satisfaction they need. Then it's on to the next treasure to enjoy...not making a business out of.

If you happen to make a profit when you do sell your classic, then you are required by the Classic Car Regulatory Committee (doesn't actually exist, but Classic Auto Mall can help) to immediately go out and find another treasure to celebrate your good fortune!

Foundation Update

by Lisa Karrenbauer
President

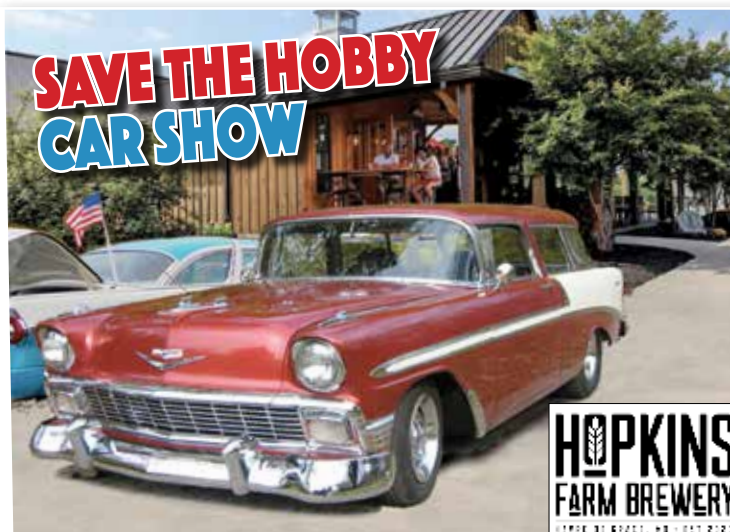

Hi everyone, I have some big news to share with you. Several weeks ago we made an announcement on social media about changes here at the CCCEF. Although most of the faces are the same, there is an individual that stepped up to a leadership position here at the foundation. So going forward, I have been named as the Executive Director, Dave Bielecki is now the Vice President in charge of Media and poised to be our new President is Lisa Karrenbauer. The remainder of this column will be Lisa introducing herself to you. I hope you will join me in welcoming Lisa to her new role here at the CCCEF

- Doug Wood

Introducing Lisa Karrenbauer

After more than 30 years in the insurance industry, I recently retired and am excited to begin a new chapter focused on giving back to the collector car community. Throughout my career, I was passionate about serving others, including leading our local Military Diversity Network. In that role, I worked with community partners to support veterans and raise awareness of organizations dedicated to serving those who have served our country.

My love of automobiles has always been present, but it truly flourished after marrying my husband, Jim, whose enthusiasm for classic cars inspired me to become even more involved in the hobby. Today, my favorite car—and one that had long been a dream of mine—is our 1969 Camaro SS.

Spotlight: Manny Gorres

Manny started at an early age of 4 years old tinkering around cars when my wife Nicole and I were working on her Jeep Grand Cherokee. We both were working under the vehicle when we heard something behind us; it was Manny Jr unbolting the exhaust clamps, that's when I knew this kid will be into cars like Dad. When one of my best friends had passed away in North Carolina from cancer, his wife had contacted me to ask if I wanted to buy his 1964 SS Chevelle Malibu. I bought the car and away it went from the Outer Banks of North Carolina to Montgomery County Maryland. Well Manny was so in love with it he had to come check out the car parked over a friend's house so he came and sat in the front seat while the car was running just rumbling, (videos on Manny's Garage). He helped me take videos and revving up the car. So, we moved to Essex, Maryland where the car subsides and we acquired another Chevelle a 67 Chevelle owned by Howard (Sonny) Brown and great car builder and a local of the Dundalk area. Nicole bought the car for $900.00 and we fixed it all up. I instructed Manny, who was 7 years old, to rebuild her HEI electronic ignition distributor with all new Petronix components. I showed Manny which parts needed to be replaced. I came back in an hour and Manny had it all completed (videos on Manny's Garage) I had to double check everything to see if everything was there. Sure enough, it was completed by Manny.

When my wife's engine was ready to start, we placed the distributor into the engine and started the engine. It ran like a top. I looked at Manny and told him "You did an excellent job in rebuilding that distributor, it's running like a top"

This was the beginning of MANNYS GARAGE Official Webpage now MANNYS GARAGE Official Facebook.

Manny has been working and fixing his mom's 67 Chevelle making sure its running at its tip top shape. He is also currently working on his 1964 SS Chevelle, now we are in the process of converting his 283/301 SBC with a Tunnel Ram with Tunnel Ram Carburetors.

Manny has met with celebrities such as Andrew Cohen with the hit TV show Junk Yard Empires and the Street Outlaws 405 Farm Truck and AZN, Manny had his glove box dash plate on his SS

Chevelle signed by Farm Truck, AZN and Relic with the 405 Street Outlaws. Last time we met with Farm Truck and AZN. AZN gave Manny his watch to remember him by and to let Manny know they are watching his website.

Manny continues to work in the automotive industry and also was taught by Ron Yeager with RON'S RODS in Kingsville, Maryland on how to weld. Manny practices at home and videos his progress on MANNYS GARAGE Official Facebook. He is also trying to get clients to help him fund his project by washing cars and detailing them at Manny's Garage. Ron Yeager has been an inspiration to Manny that he enjoys watching and seeing Ron build Classics on Ron's webpages and in his shop.

Manny continues to work on his projects from Motorcycles, Go-karts to his 1964 SS Chevelle. He is also the youngest member of the Lazy 8's Cruiser Car Club and is well known from other car clubs locally and outside of the State of Maryland. He also met with the President and founder of The Legendary Muscle Car Club NY/ NJ in Ocean City, they were so happy to see Manny they gave him a hat, a shirt and stickers and invited him and I to take a cover photo with their car club in Ocean City. He is also met with Robert Gray President and founder of the Twisted Rods Car Club. Along the way he has met many great people and great fun being with all these car clubs including the Classic Cars of MD., and Save the Hobby. Manny would love to help other kids who are interested in Classic Cars and Hot Rods in building and teaching them knowledge of how things work in the automotive industry. All he asks is to help him support his goals and watch MANNYS GARAGE Official Facebook and become a member.

– Manny Sr.

1969 Oldsmobile Cutlass - Member of Wheels That Heal Car Club

This 1969 Oldsmobile Cutlass is dressed in its original Aztec Gold Metallic paint and (like most of us) has all the standard door dings, dents, and scratches from over 50 years of getting groceries and Sunday morning church runs (by a little old lady of course) This ole gal is sporting its original 350 Oldsmobile Rocket L65 engine. This one equipped with the factory Rochester (2gc) 2 barrel carburetor boasting a gas sipping 250 horsepower with 9.0:1 compression ratio back with the newly introduced (for 1969) Turbo 350 3 speed automatic transmission and a 10 bolt rear with a 373 gear. This thing is mostly in its original form right down to the door buzzer. If you see Eddie out and about in Quantico Maryland stop and take a look at this piece of automotive history. He'll be glad to tell you all about it and if you're lucky he'll let you hear that door buzzer.

Why Are Cowl, Warranty, and Fender Tags So Important ?

Many car enthusiasts see these metal plates and tags on GM, Ford, and Mopar vehicles and do not realize how important they are to authenticating the car's real history. I have had numerous clients tell me that a classic is "numbers matching" only to find out they never decoded the metal tag on the car which gives information about the date the car was built, the color, and trim. I have uncovered a number of inaccurately documented cars just by reviewing the plates. Below are some tips on GM cowl tags, Ford warranty tags, and Mopar fender tags.

GM Cowl Tags

Cowl tags are important because they preserve body-specific information that may not appear clearly elsewhere on the vehicle. A properly interpreted tag can help confirm the original body style, interior trim, paint scheme, assembly plant, and approximate build date. They are also useful during pre-purchase inspections. A cowl tag that agrees with the VIN, known production data, and physical features of the car can support authenticity. However, a cowl tag should never be treated as the only proof of originality. Tags can be damaged, altered, replaced, or misunderstood, and some codes varied by plant and year.

The VIN and cowl tag serve different purposes. The VIN is the legal vehicle identifier and usually records division, model, body type, engine designation for some years, assembly plant, and sequential production number. The cowl tag is a body identification plate and generally describes how the body was configured before or during final assembly.

Because the two systems were created for different production needs, numbers on the cowl tag often do not match the VIN. For example, the Fisher Body number is normally not the same as the VIN sequence number. In some model years, series codes on the tag may appear inconsistent with the VIN, especially where Fisher used body-family or trim-level references that were not intended to identify engine installation.

Ford Warranty Plates

Ford warranty tags, also known as warranty plates, rating plates, patent plates, data plates, or VIN tags depending on the model year, are factory identification plates used to record a vehicle's original build information. On many classic Ford cars and trucks, these tags provide far more than a serial number: they may identify the series, engine, assembly plant, body style, paint color, trim, transmission, axle ratio, wheelbase, gross vehicle weight rating, certified horsepower, and sales district or special-order information.

The location of a Ford warranty tag varies by year, vehicle line, and assembly practice. On many 1950s and 1960s Ford passenger cars, the tag was commonly attached to a front left body pillar or door jam.

Once again, a warranty tag is valuable because it documents how the vehicle was originally built. Collectors, restorers, appraisers, and buyers use it to confirm originality, identify correct replacement parts, verify factory colors and trim, evaluate rare options, and compare the door tag against frame stampings or title paperwork. A matching, legible tag can support a vehicle's authenticity, while a missing, damaged, altered, or mismatched tag may require additional inspection.

There are companies like The Marti Reports who will decode the warranty tag on most Fords from 1967 and later. Any Ford made prior to that, a factory manual or the internet can help in decoding the tag.

Mopar Fender Tags

A fender tag is a small stamped identification plate attached to the vehicle body during production. It is usually located on the driver's side inner fender panel. Unlike a VIN plate, which primarily identifies the vehicle for registration and legal purposes, the fender tag was used by the assembly process to communicate build details to plant workers. It functioned as a compact build reference for body, paint, trim, and option information.

Many Chrysler fender tags are read from the bottom line upward and from left to right within each line. This is a general rule, but layout varies by year, assembly plant, and vehicle line. Early tags may use rows of letters and numbers arranged under category headings, while later tags often use three-character sales codes arranged in lines.

The lower lines commonly contain foundational build data such as body code, engine code, transmission code, scheduled production date, order number, paint, and trim. Upper rows often list equipment groups and individual option codes. Because Chrysler changed coding practices over time, a decoder or reference book should match the exact model year and plant whenever possible.

Later Mopar fender tags often use three-character sales codes. These codes are grouped by letter families that identify the general type of option. Examples include package codes, brake codes, transmission and axle codes, engine codes, glass and mirror codes, heater and air-conditioning codes, lighting codes, molding codes, power equipment codes, radio codes, suspension and steering codes, tire codes, vinyl top and paint codes, and wheel or hubcap codes.

I hope some of this information will prove to be helpful when you are considering the purchase of a classic to verify what the seller is telling you. More detailed information can be found on the internet or specific manufacturer manuals.

Until next time, Happy Motoring!! - J.D.

In Memoriam

Pat Kraus (1940 - 2026)

Born on March 17, 1940, Francis Patrick Kraus was the son of Peter and Margaret Kraus. He died peacefully at home on July 18 surrounded by his wife Jean and his loving family. He grew up in Perry Hall and graduated from Kenwood High School in 1958. He worked for AAI Corporation and Liberty Mutual Insurance Company before leaving to work in various aspects of the automotive industry.

He was a lifelong rodder hailing from Harford County Maryland, and built cars for half a century. Pat lived the golden era of hotrodding and cruised in a cool custom Olds Rocket, a member of the Golden Gears Car Club. The walls of Pat's three-bay garage tell stories of those good ole days, with guys like Dave Strickler and the 'Ole Reliable 409 Chevy, ("fast" by Grumpy Jenkins) and "Roadster Jack" Colson. His black '50 Olds coupe was seen often at the Lowes Cruise in Abington. He also owned a '49 Olds Convertible, a 57 Fairlane drop top, and a '71 Nova, and '32 Ford 5-Window Coupe that's authentic and period-perfect right down to the bias-ply whitewall Firestone slicks and a 265 Chevy small block. In 2016, his roadster was featured in our Reader's Rides, and claimed that one was his last build, but he was too much of a car guy to stop. Beyond his professional accomplishments, he was widely known in the local car world to those over a certain age.

Jake Maguire (2004 - 2026)

Jake loved everything about cars, especially vintage cars and the classics – anything from "the 1900's." He appreciated great aesthetic design anywhere, whether it was cars or planes - or buildings or bridges. So he got certified in Computer Aided Design.

Jake took formal classes in welding (thanks to a CCCEF scholarship), and practiced his craft at Ron's Rods in Kingsville MD, where he did fabrication & sheet metal work on vintage cars & trucks. He attended a summer program in Auto Restoration at McPherson College in Kansas. Jake was often at local Cars & Coffee events.

Just like he appreciated cars that were older, he appreciated people with deep experience: He became close friends with several car enthusiasts who were 3 to 4 times his age. For his college classes, Jake studied & wrote about some of the legendary car designers of America & Europe.

He was attending CCBC, studying Civil Engineering & Environmental Science. Jake Maguire, age 22, of Timonium MD passed away on May 26 2026.

The MCAA Has Our Back

The MCAA, formed in February, is the sole Maryland-based advocacy group for all aspects of the hobby in the State. MCAA reviewed the over 2,600 pieces of legislation proposed by Delegates, Senators, and the current administration in the 2026 session which closed in April. See last month's Car and Cruise Guide digital edition for a summary of our efforts for the hobby or our web site at www.marylandcollectibleautoassociation.com. This month, MCAA has three items on our agenda:

1) Increasing membership: please join us! It's free, no ads, we don't sell your info. Joining will keep you informed on Maryland legislative actions that affect our hobby. We will advise when it may be helpful to contact your legislators to protect our hobby. Joining info is on our link above.

2) A special legislative session has been called. The General Assembly will have a special session August 3-5. While the session has been called to consider re-districting, there is no limitations on what legislation can be introduced. MCAA will monitor for any affecting our hobby.

3) MCAA has posted on numerous FaceBook pages (Car Clubs/Cars & Coffee pages) requesting data on how this hobby supports charities in Maryland. Most Maryland lawmakers have no idea how our attendance at car shows support charitable organizations. This is an important measure of our impact. MCAA will use this data in correspondence and testimony in Annapolis. If you've seen our request on your favorite FB page, please respond there or send directly to MCAA on our link above. We'll make one more request on this topic at the end of the summer and combine similar efforts by Car and Cruise Guide for an end season total.

IT IS UP TO YOU to send in your FREE Show Listings - by E-MAIL ONLY.

— NOTICE —

We often are sent incomplete information from show promoters. The listings or flyers received sometimes are missing addresses, phone numbers, town, state, etc. We simply put what we get in the magazine and on the website.

Please do not call Dave directly asking for these details; we don't know any more than you do. This is why we require the contact number in the listing, because the magazine cannot be expected to answer questions we don't have the answer to and we think that's not too much to ask. If you're not sure, you can always find another event to attend. Just sayin.'

Reader's Rides

Bryce Hathaway's 1946 Dodge Truck

My 1946 Dodge Truck sits on a 1998 Dakota RT frame and drive train. It is completely stock other than mods to fit the 46 body on it.

I stretched the cab 9 inches. This was my happy medium for comfort and not wanting the cab to look stretched. The doors are suicide with remote control poppers and safety locks. The bed is hauling two whiskey barrels, both of which open and carry the battery in one barrel and the gas tank inlet tube in the other one. The interior has the creature comforts of tilt steering, cruise control, heat / AC, heated seats, backup camera, others. The drivetrain, engine, suspension, stayed 100% Dakota RT so I could buy parts over the counter when needed.

Have a Car or Truck with an interesting story? Or some cool old photos?
Why not share it with our readers and see it printed in the magazine!
